

Kidepo's breathtaking sceneries with huge buffalo herds and its unique, beautiful and virgin angulated hills offer a wonderful experience in Uganda.

Kidepo Valley National Park is a wilderness park, dry, hot and isolated, yet spectacular, magnificent and virgin, waiting to be discovered.

Traversed by large sand rivers, the park is renowned for its distinctive composition of wild game co-existing with the dry mountain forests, open savanna and hilltops capped by rock kopjes.

Enjoy the isolated wilderness dominated by the 2,750 meters Mount Morungole and transected by the Kidepo and great Narus rivers.

Perennial rains may make Kidepo an oasis in the semi-desert, but its tract of rugged savannah is home to 77 mammal species and almost 500 birds.

Game viewing is exciting all year round and so is bird watching, foot safaris and mountain climbing.

Even in the dry season, it is worth to drive just to visit the seasonal Kidepo river and stroll along its 50 meters wide bed of white sand between banks covered with Borassus palm trees.

The 1,442 sq km is located in northern Uganda and borders the Sudan in the north west and Kenya in the north east.
